Cori's diverse legal experience not only includes handling litigation matters in state and federal courts across Texas, but also working as an in-house lawyer for a leading financial services provider in Texas, where she managed outside litigation.

Whether advising her clients on workplace issues or in active litigation, clients appreciate her meticulous preparation, her thoughtful and commonsense advice, and her commitment to achieving the best possible overall results for her clients. Cori's efforts were recognized in 2015 and 2016, when she was named a Texas Rising Star by Thomson Reuters.

After graduating with a B.A. and M.A. in Sociology from the University of Oklahoma, Cori earned her J.D. magna cum laude and Order of the Coif from the Southern Methodist University Dedman School of Law. While in law school, Cori served as the Air Law Symposium Editor and Staff Editor for the SMU Law Review, was a Hatton W. Sumners Scholar, and was named Outstanding First Year Law Student. Before joining Rogge Dunn Group, Cori practiced at Figari + Davenport, LLP.

When not practicing law, Cori can be found teaching classes at The Bar Method Dallas, where she is a certified instructor, or spending time with her husband, two boys, and two dogs.
